How to Play:

1. Give one card to each person, or each group, depending on the number of students.
2. Provide the students with something to record answers.
3. Start the students on their first cards.
4. Allow a designated amount of time, and then say, "Stop. Pass the problem."
5. Students pass their problem to their neighbors, and receive a new one.
6. Repeat until all students have received all the questions, or until a satisfactory number of questions have been answered.
